Helpful resources and tips

As a learner, you can choose to complete one or multiple courses in the Google UX Design Certificate program. However, to obtain the certificate, you must complete all 7 courses in the program and submit all graded assignments. This reading describes what is required to obtain a certificate and best practices for you to have a good learning experience on Coursera.

Course completion to obtain a certificate

To receive your official Google UX Design Certificate, you must:

- Pass all graded assignments in all 7 courses of the certificate program. Each graded assignment is part of a cumulative graded score for the course, and the passing grade for each course is 80%.

AND one of the following:

- Pay the course certificate fee ,
- Be approved for Coursera Financial Aid , or
- Complete the certificate through an educational institution, employer, or agency that's sponsoring your participation.

Healthy habits for course completion

Here is a list of best practices that will help you successfully complete the courses in the program:

- Plan your time: Setting regular study times and following them each week can help you make learning a part of your routine. Use a calendar or timetable to create a schedule, and list what you plan to do each day in order to set achievable goals. Find a space that allows you to focus when you review the videos and readings, and complete course activities.
- Work at your own pace: Everyone learns differently, so this program has been designed to let you work at your own pace. Although your personalized deadlines start when you enroll, feel free to progress through the program at the speed that works best for you. There is no penalty for late assignments; to earn your certificate, all you have to do is complete all of the work. You can extend your deadlines at any time by going to Overview in the navigation panel and selecting Switch Sessions. If you have already missed previous deadlines, click Reset my deadlines instead.
- Be curious: Find an idea that gets you excited, act on it! Ask questions, search for more details online, explore the links that interest you, and take notes on your discoveries. The steps you take to support your learning will advance your knowledge, create more opportunities for you in this high-growth field, and help you qualify for jobs.
- Review exemplars: Exemplars are completed assignments that fully meet an activity's criteria; many activities in this program have exemplars that you can compare to your own work. Although there are often many different ways to complete an assignment, exemplars offer you guidance and inspiration about how to complete the activity.
- Take notes: Notes are useful for remembering information that you think might be important in the future, especially as you're preparing to enter a new job field. In addition, taking notes is an effective way to make connections between topics and gain a better understanding of those topics. Search online for effective note-taking methods, if you'd like some advice.
- Build your Career Identity: Your career identity is the unique value you bring to the workforce. Watch this video to learn about the key components of career identity and write your own career identity statement. Discovering and defining your own career identity makes you better equipped to choose a career path that aligns with your strengths, values, and goals and is more effective in your chosen profession.
- Connect with other learners: If you have a question, chances are, you're not alone. You can visit Coursera's private Google UX Design Community to expand your network, discuss career journeys, and share experiences. You can also check out the quick start guide.
- Update your profile: Consider updating your profile on Coursera. This link appears in the menu when you click on your name at the top-right corner of this screen. When classmates find you in the Community, they can click on your name to view your profile and get to know you better.

Documents and files for course activities

To complete certain activities in the program, you will need to use digital documents, spreadsheets, presentations, and/or labs. UX design professionals use these software tools to collaborate within their teams and organizations. If you need more information about using a particular type of document, refer to these resources:

Weekly, course, and certificate glossaries

This program covers a lot of terms and concepts, some of which you may already know and some of which may be unfamiliar to you. To review terms and help you prepare for graded quizzes, refer to the following glossaries:

- Weekly glossaries: At the end of each week's content, you can review a glossary of terms from that week. The weekly glossaries are not downloadable; however, all of the terms and definitions are included in the course and certificate glossaries, which are downloadable.
- Course glossaries: At the end of each course, you can access and download a glossary that covers all of the terms in that course.
- Certificate glossary: The certificate glossary includes all of the terms in the entire certificate program and is a helpful resource that you can reference throughout the program or at any time in the future.

You can access and download the certificate glossaries and save them on your computer. You can always find the course and certificate glossaries using the course's Resources tab. To access the UX Design Certificate glossary, click the following link and select Use Template.

- Link to the glossary: UXD certificate glossary

OR

- If you don't have a Google Account, you can download the glossary directly from the following attachment.

Course feedback

Providing feedback on videos, readings, and other materials is easy. With the resource open in your browser, locate the thumbs-up and thumbs-down symbols.

- Click thumbs-up for materials that are helpful.
- Click thumbs-down for materials that are not helpful.

If you want to flag a specific issue with an item, click the flag icon, select a category, and enter an explanation in the text box. This feedback goes to the course development team and isn't visible to other learners. All feedback received helps to create even better certificate programs in the future.
